Entry of Amendment

Applicant's amendment filed on March 6, 2006 is acknowledged. Claims 1-32 are currently pending.

Prior Rejections or Objections

The following comments pertain to the rejections or objections in the most recent Office action mailed on Sep. 7, 2005. Rejections under 35 U.S.C. 112, 102 and 103 are withdrawn, however, new grounds of rejection are presented below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, 6-16, 18 and 21-30 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dobak, III et al. (6,261,312). Dobak et al. disclose a catheter system and its method of use in changing the temperature of the blood by heat transfer to and from a circulating working fluid, comprising the identical structure as claimed by Applicant (Figure 3 of Dobak), wherein the heat transfer element is a balloon made of rubber with flexible supply and return lumens capable of undergoing inflation, wherein the working fluid is saline, wherein the length of the supply lumen is between 5 and 30 cm, wherein the helical shape of the return lumen is less than about 8 mm when inflated, wherein the working fluid supply is configured to produce a pressurized working fluid at a temperature of between about -3 to 36°C and at a pressure below about 5 atm, and wherein the return lumen includes a surface coating including heparin (col. 3, lines 7-19 and line 45-col. 4, line 28, col. 8, lines 35-46, col. 9, lines 32-58 col. 15, lines 57-61 and col. 16, lines 1-36).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dobak et al. in view of Dato (3,325,419). Dobak et al. fail to disclose the heat transfer element is made of a flexible conductive metal. But, Date discloses a catheter for heat exchange with the blood in the vasculature and which is made of stainless steel, suggesting that it would have been obvious to a skillful artisan to modify the device of Dobak et al. as disclosed by Dato, to provide a catheter with higher thermal conductivity and therefore, higher heat transfer for the application (see Dato, col. 3, lines 3-60).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 31-32 are allowed.

Claims 4, 5, 19 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
